

Right At School keeps the risk factor low

AND THE FUN FACTOR HIGH.

We're proud to introduce our enhanced health and safety practices to meet new regulations and guidelines - keeping kids safe while learning, socializing, and having fun!

Take a look at how our health and safety practices align to safety guidelines from your state and the CDC:

Wellness Checks

We provide wellness checks for staff and students every day before entering the program. These include temperature-taking and self-assessment for any symptoms. No one is allowed in with any symptoms or if there is a sick family member at home.

Hygiene Practices

We adhere to new hygiene practices: handwashing for staff and students for at least 20 seconds multiple times per day (upon arrival, before eating, coming in from outside, after restroom use, etc.).

Physical Distancing

Physical distancing is practiced at all times. Students sit apart during meal times, curriculum activities and outdoor play (playground equipment is not used).

Staff Face Masks

All staff wear protective face masks in the program at all times.

Personal Supply Kits

Students do not share activity supplies; each student has his or her own supply kit.

Sanitization Practices

We have increased sanitization practices: all surfaces and areas are cleaned after each use throughout the day.

Staff to Student Ratios

Staff to student ratios meet or exceed each state's new regulations.

But a significant increase in safety practice standards does not have to mean less fun!

HERE'S WHAT WE'RE DOING TO KEEP ENGAGEMENT HIGH:

- ✓ Our team has rewritten all curriculum so that physical distancing doesn't take away from learning and engagement.
- ✓ This includes sports and games - our team has created a full set of fitness activities that allow for physical distancing but keep the fun factor high.
- ✓ New staff training has made our team ready to support e-learning.
- ✓ Students have their own curriculum kits - and don't ever share - so that we can keep doing all our favorite STEM activities. We've even recreated fun ways to play chess and other board games!

Yes, it's possible to have fun and be safe at Right At School!
